

ASSASSIN OF ARCHDUKE WELL PAID

COUNT VON HARRACH FAILED AS A SHIELD

Stood on Auto Steps as Bullets Struck Heir Apparent and Wife

(By Associated Press.) Vienna, June 29.—The new heir to the throne of Austria-Hungary is Arch Duke Charles Francis Joseph. He is aged twenty-six.

He is popular with the people of the dual monarchy.

Bomb Causes an Outbreak. Sarajevo, June 29.—A bomb thrown by a youth on a main street today was the signal for a serious anti-Serbian outbreak, which the troops had difficulty in quelling.

Students Shouted "Thank God." Sarajevo, Bosnia, June 29.—Death masks of Archduke Francis Ferdinand and Duchess of Hohenberg were taken today and the bodies placed on a catafalque in the chapel of the palace, surrounded by magnificent floral emblems from all parts of the country.

Martial law has been proclaimed both in the city and the district of Sarajevo.

Count Francis Von Harrach was standing on the footboard of an automobile acting as shield to the royal occupants.

The Archduke was joking the Count about his precautions when the shots rang out. Every bullet from the assassin's gun had mortal effect.

Some Serbian students, who heard the news, shouted:

"Thank God, we need not do it ourselves." They were arrested as accomplices.

Well planned Crime. London, June 29.—It developed that the assassination of Archduke and the Duchess was the most carefully planned crime ever carried out against royal personages.

It was engineered by persons possessing mature organization ability and it is thought the plotters had headquarters in Belgrade, the Serbian capital.

Bombs were found along the railroad where it was intended to blow up the royal train should the assassins' bullets prove untrue.

Serbian hatred of Austria, always violent, was fomented by the newspapers in Belgrade and agitators throughout Serbia and Bosnia, who induced the students to sacrifice their lives in the belief that their names would go down into history as patriots.

Austrian authorities are contemplating severe measures against the Serbs, among the inhabitants in Austria-Bosnia.

These measures are likely to further embitter the relations between these countries as well as between Austria and Russia, protector of the Serbs.

The Archduke was aware of the danger in his visit to Sarajevo.

The Serbian minister at Vienna implored the Duchess not to go, but she insisted that her place was beside her husband.

Bitter feeling is expressed by the Serbs flying Serbian flags when the Archduke arrived at Sarajevo.

The bitter feeling was carried to extreme in the Bosnian Diet, called to express sorrow at the death of the Archduke, when four Serbian deputies appeared in light suits in contrast to the sombre black worn by their fellow deputies. In the rooms of Gavro Prinzi, his assistant found large sums of money which is further

REMARKABLE SNAKE STORY; A TRUE ONE

Capt. Barnhouse Tells of Killing a 5-foot Rattler and the Disastrous Results

A remarkable snake story is being told today by John M. Barnhouse. The captain swears the story is absolutely true and that he can prove it. Saturday night while he and his wife were sitting on the back porch at their home on West Oklahoma avenue, a large snake hove in sight. Barnhouse grabbed a pitchfork and pinned the reptile to the ground; he then secured an axe and cut the snake's head off. It proved to be a rattler five feet long with 22 rattles. The skin was of a beautiful striped gloss and Mrs. Barnhouse asked the captain to take the skin from the snake and preserve it. This task performed the body of the snake was permitted to lie where it was until later.

Sunday morning the snake's body had disappeared. A search developed a remarkable condition of affairs on the Barnhouse ranch. Eighteen fat chickens and three turkeys were found dead; scattered all over the barn lot. Barnhouse picked one of the dead fowls up by the back feathers and the feathers came out without resistance. A closer search brought to light the skeleton of the snake, but all of the flesh had been picked clean from the bones. The snake had evidently cut itself in the throes of death and thoroughly poisoned the flesh of its body, thus causing the death of the chickens from the poison.

Barnhouse reports more snakes in evidence this summer than ever before; caused probably by the excessive hot weather driving them from cover to seek water.

NEW BILL TO HAVE NEW FACE

Wichita, Kan., June 29.—Within the next few weeks millions of dollars' worth of paper money of a new type will be put in circulation by reserve banks, and E. A. Russell, cashier of the National Bank of Commerce, predicts that a great amount will be used in Wichita for advertising purposes.

"Whenever new coins or bills are put into circulation all the merchants secure them and place them in their windows and about the stores to serve as drawing cards," said Mr. Russell.

Except for advertising purposes, these new bills will be little noticed by the general public, and in a very short time the change will be forgotten, according to the banker.

Stamps which have been submitted for currency have not been accepted, but it is certain that they will be. The $5 bills will have an agricultural scene upon it, the next higher denomination will be typical of industry and transportation and the highest denomination, $100, will represent the arts. The portraits of Lincoln, Cleveland, Grant, Jackson and Franklin will be on the bills.

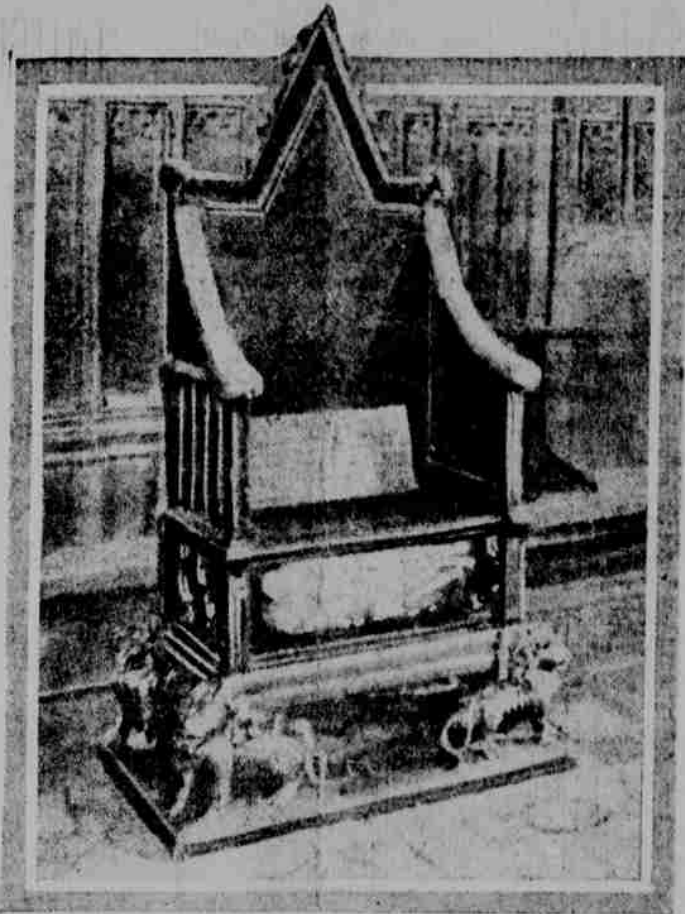

LOUISIANA LEGALIZES PRIZE FIGHTS; 20 ROUND BOUTS

Baton Rouge, La., June 29.—Twenty round decision boxing bouts will be legalized in Louisiana under the terms of the Gabagan bill which today passed the senate with but one dissenting vote. It had previously been passed by the house. Gov. Hall had not indicated that he will veto the measure. Under present statutes only ten round no decision bouts can be held in the state. The new law while authorizing championship matches stipulates that they must be held only under the auspices of an athletic club and the various municipalities of the state are given large latitude in regulating the bouts held within their jurisdiction.

Washington, June 29.—Fortified with official figures from the treasury department, Democratic Leader Underwood told the house there would be no deficit in government finances and that any such prediction was a dream springing from political antagonism.

Coronation Chair Militants Tried to Blow Up

The attempt of the militant suffragettes to blow up Britain's ancient coronation chair the other day in Westminster Abbey had a greater effect on public sentiment than anything done by them so far. To many Britishers the chair is intimately and essentially connected with the monarchy.

The coronation chair, in itself and associations, is perhaps the most remarkable relic in the world. The chair was made in the year 1266 for Edward I. It was copied in wood at a cost of 100s. from a design in bronze, the 4d. was paid for carving and gilding the two leopards and 29s. 7d. for making the step, painting and gilding the chair, and providing a chair cover.

The seat is the famous stone of fortune on which the luck of the monarchy, according to fable, depends. As the legend has it, the stone was that upon which Jacob rested his head at Bethel, and it was carried by Pharaoh's daughter, whose heart Moses had touched, to Spain, whence it was borne to Ireland, and then to Iona. There is little doubt that St. Columba laid his dying head upon it.

The Scottish King Kenneth took it to Scone and enclosed it in a wooden chair, on this for four centuries Scotland's kings were crowned, till Edward I captured it and carried it off to his shrine at Westminster.

ANOTHER SHIP ON THE ROCKS

STEAMER CALIFORNIA, BOUND FOR IRELAND, IS WRECKED

Londonderry, June 29.—In a fog and rain that rendered Tory island invisible from the mainland, the Anchor Line steamer California, New York to Glasgow, went ashore on the rocks off the island.

Wireless calls for help brought speedy assistance from several small gunboats and torpedo boats patrolling the northwest Irish coast for gun-runners in connection with the Ulster movement.

The latest news received here is that the California is stuck fast, but in no immediate danger. She struck with such force that the lower part of her bow was badly crushed and she is taking water through two holes in her forehold and second hold.

The steamer, which has on board 121 saloon and more than 300 second cabin passengers, lies in five fathoms of water forward and seven fathoms aft.

The passengers and crew are on board. There was no panic when she struck.

Several steamers and gunboats are standing by and others will arrive during the night.

The Anchor Line steamer California sailed from New York, June 29, for Mobile and Glasgow. On board the vessel were 121 cabin and more than 300 second class passengers.

Tory island lies off the northwest coast of the county Donegal, Ireland. It is a rocky reef 1-1/2 miles long and a half mile wide. On the northern end of the island is a light house.

BADLY INJURED BY DYNAMITE EXPLOSION

Nine-Year-Old Son of Mr. and Mrs. Meek Meets With Painful Accident Saturday Night

The bursting of a dynamite cap Saturday evening resulted disastrously to the 9-year-old son of Mr. and Mrs. M. W. Meek who lives one mile east of the city.

The little fellow had found the cap on the rocks near the Santa Fe reservoir east of the city and close to his home. The explosive had been dropped by the miners who had made the excavation for the reservoir. The little fellow picked it up Saturday and boy-like wanted to learn what was inside. He used a pin to pick it; the cap exploded, tearing away the thumb and two fingers on the right hand, badly lacerating his breast and face and destroying the right eye.

The injured boy was taken to the Guthrie hospital and Dr. Cottrill called. It is more than likely that he will lose his right hand.
